To Whom It May Concern:

I have been asked by Todd Grant to write a "recommendation" for him based on my experience as opposing counsel in a few domestic relations cases. I became further acquainted with Todd as our paths seemed to cross frequently in court and at County Bar luncheons where we were interested in similar legal areas.

Todd and I were both involved in one particularly difficult case which caused us to interact frequently over a several month period. Although our clients were at odds and quite difficult, we were able to maintain cordial communication throughout. I have found Todd Grant to be extremely thorough, witty and helpful. In spite of wrenching, personal problems which were causing great distress to our clients, he did not resort to negative or confrontational tactics, which sometimes causes domestic relations matters to become more tragic than they naturally are.

I always found my interactions with Todd to be pleasant and believe he would approach any legal problem with tenacity and professionalism.

I would be happy to discuss this matter if requested.
